Town wide recycling ends July 1

SUMMARY OF TRASH & RECYCLING OPTIONS FOR THE TOWN OF MONTGOMERY

At the Town meeting on Monday June 14th (7pm at Union Hall), the warrant for recycling services for the coming fiscal year will be $12,000 (see option 7. This means that the current curbside recycling services funded through property taxes will be discontinued as of July 1, 2021. Other options (see below) could be considered at a Special Town Meeting on a future date (TBD). Any questions, comments or concerns can be directed to the Select Board and/or the Finance Committee.

In April 2021, the Board of Health adopted a regulation that requires all waste removal service providers to provide recycling collection services for all of their customers in Town (dumpsters included). Enforcement of this regulation will go into effect as of July 1, 2021.

The Recycling Committee gathered this information and presented its findings to the Board of Selectmen but has had no role in decision-making. It is our position that the Townspeople should have the opportunity to consider the options and choose whatever is best for them.

See town options on page 7.

The Grille is the place to meet your neighbors!

"I can live for two months on a good compliment."

—Mark Twain

But to really exist you need some great cooking from the Montgomery Grille.

Hopefully, by the next issue of the MT Breeze we will be back to business as usual. Remember what that was like? We've looked forward to this day for a while now and thank everyone who has supported the Grille during the past year. Not all businesses have survived the virus. But until the all clear is sounded we will still follow guidelines set forth by the state.

The good weather is upon us so come on in and enjoy have we have in store for your dinning pleasure.

God Bless, Scott

It's plant sale time, a great way to help out the Library

The plant sale for the benefit of the Library Friends is ongoing. The plants can be found at the end of Chris Brown's 28 Pine Ridge and Julie Pike's driveway 1683 Russell Rd. They are also outside the library and will be at the Little Red School House on Pitcher St. Sat. June 12, rain date June 19. Among the plants available will be Shasta daisies, bee balm, lily of the valley, magic lily, iris, periwinkle and more. All donations help fund Library programs.

June is the month to:

- Begin hilling potatoes when they are 5 inches high.
- Stake perennials that tend to flop.
- Beware of bright red leaf beetles laying eggs on the underside of lily leaves.
- Harvest rhubarb by pulling stalks from plants.
- Prune Spring flowering shrubs, i.e. forsythia, after they have bloomed.
- Shear dianthus and creeping phlox after bloom for bushier plants

KOREAN -STYLE PORK TENDERLOIN

Recipe for June 2021 Thank you, Jeanne Aras for this latest recipe.

1/3 cup soy sauce	2 Tbsp. sugar
1 Tbsp. minced fresh ginger	3 Tbsp. rice vinegar
1 Tbsp. dark sesame oil	¼ tsp. crushed red pepper
4 garlic cloves, minced	1 ½ lbs. pork tenderloin

Combine and mix all 7 ingredients in a large plastic zip lock bag. Add pork and seal and marinate in refrigerator 8 hours or overnight. (turn occasionally). Preheat oven to 425 degrees. Heat a large oven-proof skillet coated with cooking spray over medium heat. Remove pork from bag. Reserve marinade. Brown pork on all sides.

Place pan in oven, bake for 15 minutes or until meat thermometer reads 160 degrees (medium). Let stand for 5 minutes before slicing. Bring reserved marinade to a boil. Simmer for 5 minutes. Cut pork in slices and serve with sauce.

Free support programs offered to new families

Do you know about It Takes a Village? We are a non-profit organization that offers free programs and support to families throughout the Hilltowns of Western Massachusetts. We provide practical and emotional support, as well as essential resources, to families with babies and young children. Our mission is to ensure that new families thrive and connect meaningfully to their communities.

We are so grateful to have a new home for our Village Closet program at 2 East Main Street in Huntington. The Village Closet is a donation and distribution program that offers free clothing, diapers, strollers, cribs and other baby gear to everyone regardless of income or town of residency.

Besides the Village Closet, we offer Home Visits for Hilltown families with a baby under one year, Parent Support groups, and Educational programs. All our programs are 100% free to all families. To find out more about our programs, sign up for home visits, or to learn about volunteering, go to www.hilltownvillage.org or call 413-650-3640.

Condolences to...

Gene Washburn, Donald Washburn and the entire family on the loss of Gene's wife and Donald's mother Lorna Washburn, who passed away April 20 at home.

Tim Wolcott and his sister Felicia Murphy of Chester on the loss of their mother Judy (Judith Johnson) Murphy, who passed away May 11 at home. Judy was our Town Clerk for many years.

To the family of Lillian (Barr) St. Germain who passed away May 22 in Westfield.

Enter the Sandmann Gifts

Two young teachers first moved to the small town of Montgomery on a snowy winter day in December of 1976. Francis June's little cottage in the woods quickly became Kit and Sandie Mann's home and over the years it has seen several renovations and changes including two children, four grandkids, and countless well loved Springer Spaniels.

Most recently, the guest room has become the sewing room and the basement, the woodshop. Both affectionately referred to as "The Sweatshop" and "The Dungeon".

Sandie was an art major and elementary teacher at Gateway and Kit was an Industrial Arts teacher in Westfield, so retirement offered them the perfect opportunity to combine their creative energies and skills to create "Sandmann Gifts", a craft business specializing in textile arts and handmade wood products. They both enjoy designing their original creations which are both imaginative and functional.

The Manns often like to incorporate natural (driftwood, birch branches) as well as repurposed items like wine corks in their products. From birch candle holders and vases to shotgun shell games and fanciful gnomes for all seasons and reasons.

Their aim is to delight their customers with art that makes them happy.

A trip down memory lane reminds us of what we've missed

Once again, we'd like to take the readers of the Mountain Breeze on a trip down Memory Lane, so to speak, to hear about some of the interesting opportunities your Montgomery Historical Society has hosted for the enjoyment of our fellow townspeople (as well as visitors from other local towns). This year, we'll harken back to 2002 and 2003 to talk about our field trips offered those years.

In the summer of 2002, the Historical Society led a group of local folks on a trip to the Hiram Smith tomb in Chester. It is said that Hiram Smith didn't want to be buried in the ground. He hated the thought of worms, insects, and/or floods entering his grave, so he looked for a more secure place to be buried. He discovered a glacial boulder high up in the forest of Chester that was 10 feet high and 30 feet wide; he had the face of it sliced off and two coffin-sized cavities cut out. He was buried there in 1873 and later Isabella Toogood (either his sister or his wife) joined him in the burial site. The tombs were sealed with a slab cut from the original stone, and their names as well as birth-and-death information are included on the face of the tomb. The tomb is in a rather out-of-the-way location well-hidden in the woods and reached by a somewhat steep climb, but is nevertheless quite fascinating! Information on this tomb can be researched on Google if you wish.

In the warmer months of both 2002 and 2003, Historical Society members and friends worked diligently on the historic Carriage Shed at the Town center to rehabilitate and renovate it so that it once again appeared as it originally did. Rotted wood was replaced (sills, siding, and elsewhere), and tar paper was applied to the old roof which was constructed long years ago without the advantage of plywood sheathing to keep the roof secure. The roof was shingled in 2003 and finishing touches to the building were undertaken. The project was financed by funds raised by the Society at our suppers put on for all to enjoy, so if you have a chance to attend one of the upcoming suppers, know that you are supporting these ongoing projects just by your attendance!

The restored Carriage Shed has been used in the past for Farmers' Markets during the summers, and during the Right-to-Farm Harvest Fairs that were held annually for several years.

"Field trips" undertaken in 2003 included one to Indian Ovens in Worthington. Richard and Muriel Boisseau knew the history around the Indian Ovens and were our leaders for this hike. Later in the year, we joined with Dave Pierce of the Chester Foundation for a hike to the several Keystone Arches in Chester. Dave showed us the extensive work that had been done on the Keystone Arches Trail to make it an attractive, informative walk. He also provided historical dialogue about the design and building of these magnificent structures for the railroad traveling from Albany on its way to Boston.

The above information covers another two years of field trips and hikes. We'll continue to share these look-backs with you in the July/August edition of the Mountain Breeze... We hope reporting on these past programs will intrigue everyone and encourage all to attend future presentations hosted by your Montgomery Historical Society.

Hope you're enjoying the improving weather! (Unfortunately, even though the cursed black flies are waning, the durned mosquitos are on the way back!) Stay safe, be well, and hopefully we can get back to the "old normal" soon!

*Watch this space for reopening of display case exhibits.
Thank you.*

Recent deaths noted of two Montgomery residents

Montgomery lost two of it's Town residents recently. Lorna Washburn was a very active patron of the library and Judy Murphy, was Town Clerk.

Lorna Swain Washburn (1927-2021)

Lorna Swain Washburn died at home on April 30, 2021, surrounded by family. Lorna was born in Sydney, Australia on December 17, 1927 to Donald Swain and Elizabeth Swain. She attended school in Derry, NH and graduated from Nasson College in 1950. Lorna worked for many years in various teaching positions as a home economics teacher. She taught in schools in New Hampshire and then at the Hampden County Cooperative Extension Service. She retired in 1985 after many years teaching at the Westfield Middle School. Her hobbies included rug hooking, gardening and cooking. She was a great wife and parent, raising her family in Montgomery, MA and helping to create a beautiful home.

Lorna is survived by her husband of 61 years, Gene Washburn of Montgomery; son, Donald Washburn and his partner, Nancy Garstka of Montgomery; daughter Linda Stone, son-in-law, Matthew Stone of Paxton, MA and grandsons, Russell Stone of Denver, CO and Channing Stone of Clarksburg, MA and her brother, Harlow N. Swain of CA.

She was predeceased by her brother, R. David Swain and sister-in-law, Lynn Swain. The family wishes to thank the Montgomery Fire Department, Bay State Hospital, Bay State Home Healthcare and Hospice for all of their help.

Burial will be at the family's convenience. In lieu of flowers, please donate to the Grace Hall Memorial Library or the Montgomery Fire Department at 161 Main Road, Montgomery, MA 01085.

Judith L. Murphy

Judith L. Murphy passed away peacefully on Tuesday, May 11, 2021 at home surrounded by her family. She is the daughter to Mable (Emerson) and the late Howard Johnson. Judy spent her professional career as a realtor for Park Square Realty Company in Westfield and also was the Town Clerk in Montgomery for many years. She loved going to the beach with her daughter Felicia as well as sitting by the pool, swimming, and gardening in her yard. After a long day she enjoyed relaxing outdoors and having cocktails with Tim. Judy was well known and loved by so many people; she would help everyone else before herself.

Judy leaves behind her son Timothy Wolcott of Montgomery, her daughter Felicia Murphy and fiancé Timothy D'Astous of Chester and her granddog Rylie. She is predeceased by her daughter Marissa Wolcott. She also leaves her two brothers Edward Johnson and his wife Sue and Paul Johnson and his wife Jill, as well as her 2 nephews.

There will be a Graveside Service for Judy in Center Cemetery in Montgomery on Sunday, May 16, 2021 at 1 PM. All are welcome to attend. In lieu of flowers, donations in Judy's name may be made to the American Lung Association or the American Cancer Society. www.fir

OTHER OPTIONS EVALUATED (AND ELIMINATED FROM FURTHER CONSIDERATION):

- Transfer station owned and operated by the Town: there is no site that would meet all regulatory requirements.
- Gaining access to a transfer station in a neighboring municipality: none of the Towns were responsive to this proposal.

Respectfully submitted by Christine Brown (413-364-1510) and Karen Bouquillon (413-563-5433).

COOL THINGS YOU NEVER KNEW ABOUT FIREFLIES

The flashes of fireflies on a warm summer night remind many of us of our carefree childhood sense of wonder. Perhaps because we are so familiar with them, either from growing up chasing them or seeing them portrayed in art, film or books we think we may know everything about them. Here are some other facts that you might not know:

Fireflies are actually beetles just like ladybugs. There are more than 2,000 species worldwide on every continent except Antarctica and there can be many species in just one habitat.

Flashes are the language of love...the flashes you see are generally from males looking to attract a female. If a female likes what she sees she responds back with a flash of her own. They engage in this twinkling 'conversation' until the male locates her and then they mate.

Fireflies spend most of their life in the larval stage (up to 2 years). Adults may live only a couple of weeks and most do not eat during this time, they just mate, lay eggs and die, so the ones you see are from successful mating 2 years ago.

The biggest firefly species are HUGE and can grow to the size of your palm (females are much bigger than males). Fireflies are threatened by pesticides, habitat loss and light pollution that prevents them from seeing each other's flashes.

Turn off your lights at night to ensure you have a beautiful display of one of Mother Nature's gifts!

Some history... Ancient landmarks of Montgomery

The following article was last published in an early copy of the Mountain Breeze by Helen Allyn:

An address delivered at Old Home Day, September 4, 1920.
by Lewis B. Allyn

In presenting these facts concerning the early history of the town, I am indebted to conversations with the older inhabitants of Montgomery and to the following sources from which I have freely drawn: "Copeland's History of Hampden County", "Holland's History of Western Mass.", "The Vital Records of Montgomery" and the records in the archives of Boston.

Trading houses were established by Connecticut settlers in 1639-40 in the Little River district of Westfield, the known as Woronoak. Twenty-three years later, land in the Pochassic district of Westfield was taken up and operated farming land by Major Humprey Atherton and Captain Roger Clapp.

In 1669, Woronoak, formerly called "Streamfield", was incorporated at the town of Westfield.

Up to this time, only about two-thirds of the land between Pine Hill and the rivers had been purchased from the Indians, until, on June 3rd, several hundred acres of land west of Elm Street were purchased for "40 pounds from Alquat the Indian Sachem of Woronoak and Pochassick."

On December 1, 1737, about 6,000 acres of land, comprising most of Montgomery and a part of Russell was granted to Westfield by the General Court. This was called the "New Addition", and records state it was valued as a place "abounding in excellent building stone", and for that reason, was sought for the inhabitants.

Soon after the close of the French and Indian wars, it became safe for people to leave their well-protected settlements in the larger towns, which according to the ideas of the people, were becoming overcrowded. The families were large and new; land was desired to afford the necessary maintenance.

After the winter snows had nearly disappeared in the spring of 1767, Ephraim Avery and his wife, Susanna, and their family made their slow way into the hill regions through Pochassic by the farms of Atherton & Clapp, up through the lower reservoir road, so-called to what is now known as Pitcher Street, and built their log cabin on the high land to the west of the present house of Charles B. Warren, in sight of the heights of Mt. Tekoa. (With the death of Harold Avery of Avery Rd. in 1999, the last direct descendant named Avery in Montgomery, ceased to exist.)

His sons were William, Abnner, Samuel, Rainsford and Ephraim, Jr.

Three of Ephraim's grandsons were personally known to most of us as Henry Avery of Westfield, and Elisha and George Avery, life-long residents of this town.

We who enjoy the comforts of the 20th century civilization may well pause to reflect upon the zeal, patience and intrepid courage of our forefathers who stripped these rocky fields of their primeval forests.

Stern need of cleared land for their crops and pastures forced them to burn millions of feet of choice timber. No saw mills, they depended upon the split slab for their boards or laboriously cut them out with a whip saw. The first saw mill in town was probably built about 1800 on the brook in the hollow near the Sand Knoll Cemetery.

In traveling over the fields, forests and pastures of Montgomery, one views with astonishment the amount of labor expended in clearing the land and building hundreds of miles of stone walls. It is estimated that there are over 125 old cellar holes, each of which doubtless represents the home of a former settler.

These cellar-places, mute testimonials of former industry and community life, are particularly numerous in the Northern and South-Western parts of the Town settled by pioneers from Norwich, Huntington and Northampton. The Pitcher Street district, so-called from Elijah Pitcher who located there in 1767 or 1768, contains some twenty or more remains of these old home-sites. These were, for the most part, settlements made by people from Westfield, Springfield and Connecticut.

Even today, the name of the original settler clings to the locality in which he built his home. A few examples will suffice as an illustration. Many others will doubtless occur to you.

The Fuller Road and Fuller Place: Probably so-called from the original home of Joseph and Pricilla Fuller in 1799. This road runs south and west dividing the farm of Elbert Chapman, formerly known as the Gilbert or Peter Squier Place (presently owned by the Park and Hazel Chapman family).

The Brant or Tracey Brant Place: The original site of the home of John and Hannah Brant in 1784 and later of their son Tracey. (on the old Brant Rd., a discontinued town road, the original location of lower Russell Rd. to Carrington Rd.) The old location can be seen today to the south and west of the Elisha Clark farm (Russell Rd., near Pomeroy Rd.)

The King Place: Lying to the west and south of the house of Myron Avery (end of Avery Rd.), probably the site of the home of Gamaliel and Pricilla King in 1794. (The old Main Rd. originally went passed the Avery house down to Carrington Rd. coming out after the first bridge on Carrington Rd., currently a wood road. That section of the Main Rd. from the Avery house was discontinued in 1802.)

Whitman Hill: Near the site of the house of Dan and Cynthia Whitman about 1700. Well within the memory of the writer stood the Whitman barn with its massive framed timbers. (On New State Rd. right before Lutat's on blind hill.)

Hatch or Brace Hill: At the top of which may be found the cellar of the house of Moses and Lucy in 1797, and later of Chester and Clarissa Brace in 1819.

It is supposed that hunting parties, from what is known at Westfield, first roamed these hills in quest of game or for purposes of exploration. Finding land which promised good returns on cultivation, they reported the same to the township from whence they came.

The inhabitants never suffered from Indian attacks since the incorporation was effected, after the defeat of the Indians and French in the war of 1756-63.

The Indians who roamed and hunted in these hills were Algonquins of the tribe of Woronoak whose chief, Alquat, has already been alluded to.

It is probable they were not very numerous, for Frances Parkman says: "An epidemic had swept them off by the thousands, fear had driven them eastward: for the Iroquois pursued them with the inveterate enmity. Some paid yearly tribute to their tyrants, while others were still subject to their inroads, flying in terror at the sound of the Mohawk war-cry. The Indian population thinned rapidly. Northern New Hampshire, the whole of Vermont and Western Massachusetts had no Indian tenants but the roving hunter or prowling warrior.

In 1915, the first automobiles came to town.....all three were Model T. Fords and were owned by E. A. Chapman, S. B. Williston and Jim Washburn. However, horses continued being used to such an extent that six new horse sheds were built near the Town Hall; labor on the same being volunteered.

World Elder Abuse Awareness Day

The United Nations has designated June 15 as World Elder Abuse Awareness Day.

The Highland Valley Elder Services remains operational, providing essential services and support to seniors in the community. The Protective Services Team continues to investigate concerns of financial exploitation, neglect, self-neglect, and abuse (physical, sexual, and emotional).

They are still actively working with clients, telephonically and in person as needed, and that those needing to report concerns can still do so. If you are aware of an individual over the age of 60 who you believe to be at risk you can file a report of concern 24/7 on the web at Mass.Gov and through the central intake unit at (800) 922-2275.

Guidance for people who are fully vaccinated against COVID-19

People are fully vaccinated for COVID-19 if they have received two doses of either the Moderna or Pfizer vaccines or a single dose of the Janssen vaccine more than 14 days ago.

Effective May 29: The Commonwealth's face-covering order will be rescinded. The Department of Public Health will issue a new face-covering advisory consistent with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's updated guidance. Face coverings will still be mandatory for all individuals on public and private transportation systems (including rideshares, livery, taxi, ferries, MBTA, Commuter Rail and transportation stations), in healthcare facilities and in other settings hosting vulnerable populations, such as congregate care settings.

Face-Covering Advisory for Unvaccinated Residents. The Department of Public Health will issue a public health advisory effective May 29 that advises all unvaccinated residents to continue to wear face-coverings in indoor settings and when they can't socially distance.

The United Nations has designated June 15 World Elder Abuse Awareness Day

What is Elder Abuse?

In general, elder abuse refers to intentional or neglectful acts by a caregiver or “trusted” individual that leads to, or may lead to, harm of a vulnerable elder. Physical abuse; neglect; emotional or psychological abuse; verbal abuse and threats; financial abuse and exploitation; sexual abuse; and abandonment are considered forms of elder abuse. In many states, self-neglect is also considered mistreatment.

Who is at Risk?

Elder abuse can occur anywhere – in the home, in nursing homes, or other institutions. It affects seniors across all socio-economic groups, cultures, and races. Based on available information, women and “older” elders are more likely to be victimized. Dementia is a significant risk factor. Mental health and substance abuse issues – of both abusers and victims – are risk factors. Isolation can also contribute to risk.

Types of Elder Abuse

- Physical abuse: Use of force to threaten or physically injure an elder
- Emotional abuse: Verbal attacks, threats, rejection, isolation, or belittling acts that cause or could cause mental anguish, pain, or distress to a senior
- Sexual abuse: Sexual contact that is forced, tricked, threatened, or otherwise coerced upon a elder, including anyone who is unable to grant consent
- Exploitation: Theft, fraud, misuse or neglect of authority, and use of undue influence as a lever to gain control over an older person’s money or property
- Neglect: A caregiver’s failure or refusal to provide for a vulnerable elder’s safety, physical, or emotional needs.
- Abandonment: Desertion of a frail or vulnerable elder by anyone with a duty of care
- Self-neglect: An inability to understand the consequences of one’s own actions or inaction, which leads to, harm or endangerment.

Remember: You do not need to prove that abuse is occurring; it is up to the professionals to investigate the suspicions.
